Tammany and the County Democracy Go Hand in Hand.

Cleveland and Thurman the Popular Watchwords.

Twenty-six Pullman Conches and Plenty of Good Cheer-A Great Gathering at the Grand Central Depot-All Enthusiastic for Cleveland and Thurman-A Complete List of the Delegates and the Henchman Who Will Go With Them.

Quietly, without a whoop and minus war paint, about three hundred bucks of the Tammany Hall tribe gathered at the Grand Central Depot at noon to-day, preparatory to starting on the trail which will take them to the great council at St. Louis.

The train, consisting of thirteen elegantly appointed Wagner sleepers, waited in the Annex" depot in Forty-second street, from an early hour in the morning. The platform was crowded with delegates and their friends, and the greatest difficulty was found in finding space on it to store the immense quantities of food, wine, beer and liquor which had been provided, and much mense quantities of food, wine, beer and liquor which had been provided, and much of which is destined to be thrown from the car windows to feed the poor along the line of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad.

Big Chief Tom Gilroy was not there. He left yesterday afternoon to perfect arrangements for the reception of the Tammany men at the Southern Hotel.

Unlike Tammany, the Counties made something of a display at this end of the route. The Murphy legion, consisting of fifty members of the Huckory Club of the First Assemby District, had orders to leave their clubhouse in Hudson street at 3 P. M. under command of Senator Michael C. Murphy and headed by Bayne's Sixty-ninth Regiment Band. Their march will be up Hudson street to Byring, to Broadway, to Fifth avenue, to Bryant Park, where they will be photographed, after which they will join their brethren from the other districts, assembled at the Grand Central Depot.

The Murphy Legion is uniformed in spring suits of gray material and high "Hickory" Jackson white plugs, and carry a beautiful stand of colors. On the left breast each man wears a metal badge, being a medallion portrait of President Cleveland in yellow metal on a field of white.

The County Democracy's train consists of the same number of sleepers as that of Tammany Hall, and is equally well provisioned, wined and liquored. The organizations' itinerary is similar to that of Tammany, excepting made by the Michigan Central and Wabash, and the return by the Bee Line and Lake Shore.

Here are the braves who are moving on St.

Lake Shore.

Kerr's Jury Do Not Agree and Kerr Goes Out on Bail.

The Weakness of the Prosecution Said to Be the Cause.

Well-Presented Evidence More Effective Than Brilliant Addresses - Kerr Furnishes $50,000 Ball-The Jary Steed Eight to Four for Conviction at the Start and Did Not Change-Will There Be a New Trial ?

The jury in the trial of Thomas B. Kerr came in at 10.88 this morning, having been out since 7.02 on Thursday evening.

They announced to the Court that they were unable to agree upon a verdict, and stated that there had been no change in their ballots since the first one, taken immediately after they retired. Justice Patterson discharged the jury im-nediately. This denouement to the trial of Kerr is the subject of general comment among the lawyers and others who have heard the trial.

Ira Shafer's comment is a typical one. He says "they had evidence enough against Kerr to convict a thousand men." And he adds thoughtfully: "Col. Fellows's speech to the jury was a strong one-but after all it's evidence, not oratory, that sways a jury. "They should make up their minds when the evidence is all in, and generally do, with-out regard to what the counsel or the Judge out regard to what the counsel or the Judge says."

The result is looked upon as another in the long series of failures which have attended Col. Fellows since his elevation to the District-Attorneyship.

Col. William F. Shaffer, Dr. Samuel Hall, Harrison D. Kerr and Chauncey F. Kerr, brothers and the son of the defendant, surrounded him in court this morning, and all were in a cheerful frame of mind, and they were not at all surprised at the result, while Bourke Cockran and exJudge Davis expressed themselves as perfectly satisfied, as the result was reached by letting the case go to the jury on the testimony of the prosecution undisputed.

Col. Fellows evidently felt his defeat keenly. His voice was very subdued and trembling as he addressed the Ccurt, saying he was content with any bail which the Court might accept. His face was drawn and filled with discouragement.

Justice Patterson, fixed bail at $50,000.

might accept. His face was drawn and niled with discouragement.

Justice Patterson:fixed bail at $50,000.

Bail Clerk William E. Penny wrote a bail bond for Thomas B. Kerr shortly after Court adjourned, and Kerr's brothers, Harrison D. Kerr and Chauncey F. Kerr, became his bondsmen. He went directly to his home.

Col. Fellows was unable to say when the trial of Kerr would be moved again, and could not tell when another boodle case would be tried. He refused to talk to reporters.

wing of the Court-House it lighted up the faces and forms of twelve haggard and dishevelled jurymen and a trio of hollow-eyed court officers.

Such was the condition of the Kerr jury and the jailers after thirty-six hours of fruitless contention. For two days and nights they had argued and deliberated in vain.

There was no rest for them, and pillows and sheets were a dream of the past. They were, indeed, so far as the necessaries of life were concerned, in a far worse pilght than the criminals awaiting trial in the Tombs.

But Kerr, the millionaire defendant, had fared better. He had been "in charge," to be sure, but his keepers, Under Sheriff Sexton and Order of Arrest Clerk Barney Martin, are first-rate companions, and Kerr had been permitted to be with his very sick wife and his family most of the time, and slept in his own bed both nights.

The long deliberation of the jury presaged a disagreement at least, and with the probabilities in favor of the idea that those for acquittal would be most likely to win over those who would convict, on the theory that it is better to ers by setting frees guilty man han in sending an innocent one to prison.

And so ex-Alderman and Treasurer Kerr was cheerful, and indeed almost complacent. Not so Bourke Cockran. He had set his nark at an acquittal. He is young to the rofession of law, and he hoped to blossom sone of the brightest flowers in the New ork legal garden He was not cheerful.

And John H. Bird, the round-faced, joliy ember of Kerr's counsel, was simply philophically resigned.

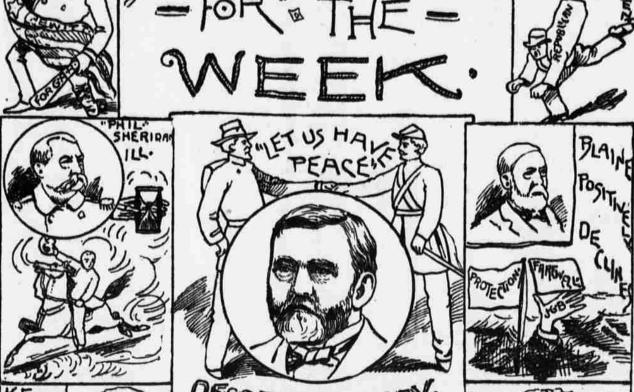

Kerr's son, who has been his constant atheant during the trial, shared his father's petulness, but Bondsman Cox was exceedly anxious.

Ince yesterday the jury have had no commication with Judge Patterson, and actither trofficers nor counsel have been allowed approach them.

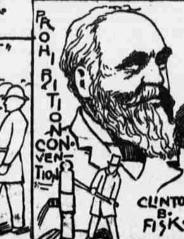

We say nothing to the jury," said Capt, y Ricketts, "and it's right, too. I once and amar's life by rapping on the door qury-room. The jury had been out in a dice case thirty-six hours, and just one II was for murder in Three Arrests. William alias "Fatty" Grote, who weighs 400 pounds and carries several election dis-pocket, was out for a lark last night. He was accompanied by Dennis Rooney and Samueli Wolff.

"Fatty's" friends took a sign, "No pool beer sold here," off a hook in front of a saloon at Fourteenth street and Third avenue and adjusted it on a woman's bustle. It did not worry the woman and it created a great deal of merriment. Charles Mack, of 104 First avenue, stepped up to "Fatty" and sand;

and:
"You are not in the Eleventh Ward now. You ean't run the Seventeenth."

Fatty retorted angrily and the two clinched. They struggled wildly for two minutes. Fatty was about to fall with crushing effect when Policeman Fisher arrived on the scene. Mack was arrested on Fatty's complaint, and the policeman arrested Fatty's two friends. At Essex Market to-day they were all discharged.

Corporation Counsel Henry B, Twombley to see that the prisoner obtains justice.

Asst. Corporation Counsel Henry B. Twombley to see that the prisoner obtains justice.

Mr. Twombley said to-day that he notified the Coroner's office last Friday that Fisher had died, and he desires that the case should be brought up at once, in order that De Main might be given his liberty.

He expected the case to be called early this week, but after several days' delay he went again to the Coroner's office yesterday and found that no Coroner had been informed of the case, and he at once brought it to the personal attention of Coroner Nugent, who ordered an investigation to be made.

De Mein says that he used no force to eject Fisher from the house. The man went out of his own secord when told that he could not have accommodations and fell en the sidewalk after going down the steps.

His injury was not a serious one, and his death was due solely to the effects of intemperance, for he was seized with an attack of delirium tremens almost as soon as he reached the hospital.

At the Coroner's office no explanation could be given of the failure to bring the case up when the notification was given last week except that the Coroner had so many cases to attend to that he could not have reached this particular one before.

GEN. SHERIDAN'S SICKNESS.

fic Passed a Comfortable Night-Please the Action of Congress. (SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.) WASHINGTON, June 2 .- Gen. Sherid passed a comfortable night. He suffered no ecurrence of heart trouble, and at 9 o'clock this morning his condition was about the same as it was at this time yesterday. Some one of his physicians was with him throughout the night, and Mrs. Sheridan is now in the sick chamber. The General's cough is ess severe to-day.

Yesterday when the General heard that the he brightened up considerably, and said to Col. Mike Sheridan, who communicated the news to him: "That was kind of them."

The four attending physicians held a consultation at 9 o'clock this morning and issued the following bulletin:

Gen. Sheridan continues to be the consultation at any consultation at 9 o'clock this morning and issued the following bulletin: bill making him a General had become a law

Gen. Sheridan continues to hold his own. There has been no return of alarming symptoms. He passed a fairly good night and had sufficient steep. Along towards morning the General was thrown into a violent paroxysm of coughing, but no alarming results followed.

BUILDING TRADE INTERESTS.

lively meeting last night at 145 Eighth street. A delegate of Progressive Painters' Union, No. 6, presided. A resolution was passed instructing th

Sergeant at Arms to aunounce the names of all delegates who come to the meetings after coll-call. roll-call.

Progressive Painters' Union No. 1 sent word that it did not recognize the cards of members of the Brotherhood of Painters because that body included expelled members from other executations.

cause that body included expelled members from other organizations.

A long discussion arose over the differences existing between the various carpenters' organizations, and the matter was finally sent back to a committee, with instructions to investigate and report.

Delegate Farrell, of the United Order of American Carpenters and Joiners, and Lodge 14 of that body were exonerated from all blame in the case of James Johnson, of the Mystic Tie Association.

Lewis McCord, of Lodge 3, of the U. O. A. C., and A. Benson, of the English Framers' Union, were appointed delegates to the Central Labor Union.

Carpenters Win a Speedy Victory. Thirty-two union carpenters went on strike yes erday at the building at the corner of Sixth avenue and Twenty-seventh street, on account of a reduc tion of wages from $2.50 to $2.55 a day. Mr. Gerlich, the owner of the property, gave a guranty that the contractor, Leary, would pay the standard rate of $5.50 a day, and the men returned to work this morning.

is your duty to accept ? Judge Thurman-I have the highest regard for President Cleveland and sincerely hope he will be re-elected. If I thought that my name would add any strength to the ticket I am willing to make a personal sacrifice for the interests of the party. I certainly should feel very bad, should the ticket be defeated, to think that I had declined if my name would have strengthened it. Of source, it is only upon the condition that the nomination comes without any struggle that I can accept. Flocking to See Buffale Bill. Buffalo Biti and his Wild West are now in po sion of Erastina, S. L., and are receiving a very
